Amtgard Survey

Did you pretend -- and enjoy -- to sword fight as a child?

Do you watch movies and wish you could fight like Aragorn? Legolas? Gimli?

Do you play RPGs but wish you could take the experience to the next level?

Do you practice martial arts but are looking for a different sort of fun?

Did you ever enjoy sitting around a campfire singing songs?

Do you often go to the grocery store wearing chain mail?

If you answered yes to ONE of these questions, then Amtgard is for you!

What is Amtgard?

Amtgard is a no-cost fantasy and medieval recreational organization. Amtgard has been around for over 15 years and has chapters all over the world.

Primarily, Amtgard is a game that centers around artistic and sword-fighting activities. Amtgard battles use padded weapons for safety. We have weekly local games as well as regional camping events.

Amtgard is more than just sword-fighting. We also have cultural and artistic competitions several times a year. Amtgarders usually meet and hang out outside of the game as well -- it's a great place make new friends.

How much does it cost?

Amtgard is free! That's one of the best things about it! Other than what you may spend on equipment and camping fees, you can easily not spend another dime.

Dues ($5 per 6 months) are not required, but will give you the opportunity to vote and run in local Amtgard elections.

Can I play?

Everyone -- from the most athletic martial artists to fully-sprouted couch potatoes -- can have fun in Amtgard. Many small women, young teens, and older persons currently play Amtgard. Due to the way our game works, everyone can be important on the battlefield.

Children under the age of 14 may only play Amtgard with special permission from both their parents and the leadership of Amtgard. Children under 18 may only play Amtgard with the permission of their parents.

How do I start?

Go to a local park! Most parks will have "loaner" weapons, and they will also have resources to help you learn the game.
