Shocking New Scientific Data

Yes, new shocking scientific data proves what people of the Emerald Hills have known all along.

The Emerald Hills populace, in all reality, is genetically superior to the populace of C.K.

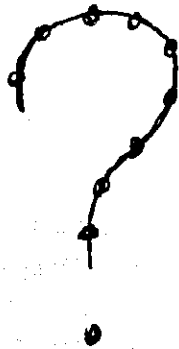

Our research has proved conclusively that those in C.K. are lower on the ladder of evolution.

In fact, Annihilus may be the best they can do in their less than adequate ecosystem. What's even scarier is scientists believe that the Bob Squad (a.k.a. Knob slobbers), may one day mutate into a species of a somewhat moldy composition

Despite all of these startling facts, we the Smack Tabloid, must stress to the populace of C.K. not to be alarmed. You do have your place in society as our Peons, and everyone needs someone to step on.
